

Grandad Savage

Despite being well into retirement, Anthony Savage AKA “Grandad Savage” still enjoys being a part of the business, which he started back in 1960. By starting as a horticulturist growing small crops, Grandad has years of experience, which he is putting to good work, growing various produce for Savages, including spring onions and cucumbers!

Grandad is also famous for his sweet peas and dahlias which he lovingly grows for the shop.

As well as growing crop, Mr Savage is also hard at work making wooden products, including buttons, light pulls and mushrooms for the shop. We're keeping it very local at Savages!
